CHURCH BURNED AT MILLBURN TO BE REPLACED

Members Plan for New Edifice at a Meeting Wednesday

A new church will rise from the ruins of the one destroyed by fire at Millburn last Saturday, according to plans formulated yesterday by the church board and members of the First Congregational church at a meeting held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Denman.

The church burned to the ground Saturday morning from a chimney fire despite the efforts of three fire departments, from Antioch, Gurnee and Lake Villa to extinguish the flames by pumping water from Mill creek, 1,500 feet away. An insurance policy of $2,000 was carried on the building.

Formed After Indian Treaty
Church was held by these 14 pioneers who came to the county after the treaty with the Indians in the school house that was there. Then they built a log church about two years later, and then replaced it with a frame building in 1847 which gave way to the church that burned down to the ground Saturday.

The old frame church that was abandoned in 1866 for the present structure that was lost by fire was a point in the "Underground Railroad" during the Civil War and many negroes escaping from slavery in the southern states were harbored there until they could push on northward and make new homes in a free land.

There were two "underground railroad stations" in Newport township during the Civil War. The other was on the Charles Heydecker farm near Wadsworth. Heydecker, a Bavarian gardener, settled near Wadsworth several years before the war of the rebellion and raised a large family there. The sons and daughters all are dead.

The Millburn church was built in 1866 after the men of Millburn returned from the Civil War. It was remodeled in 1887 and again in 1905. A huge brass bell weighing more than 500 pounds was placed in the belfry about thirty years ago. This came crashing down when the steeple tumbled into the burning ruins and the top of the bell broke away. Members of the congregation are of the opinion that the break can be welded.

At present there are 109 members of the church, descendants of the third and fourth generation of pioneers of Millburn community. The church was organized 95 years ago by 14 pioneers. Recently the membership was increased by 14 members when the church at Hickory Corners was abandoned.

Building Plans Launched.
"We won't get along without a church, and we expect to launch plans immediately for erecting a new building." So spoke J. S. Denman, church trustee, today explaining that building site would be cleared and building operations begun as soon as weather conditions permit.

Named on the committees at the Denman home yesterday were the Finance group—George White, Emmet King, Miss Vivian Bonner, Mrs. Mrs. Eva Alling, Mrs. Eva Martin and A. H. Pierstorff; who will go about the work of raising funds for the new edifice. Named on the building committee to act with the church trustees are: L. S. Bonner, D. H. Mintz, Samuel Holden, Wm. Baumann, Mrs. Beatrice Anderson and Mrs. Mabel Bonner.

The church board consists of Bert Edwards, William S. Bonner and J. S. Denman, trustees, and Gordon Bonner, secretary and treasurer of the church society. Rev. Samuel Holden, the pastor, is taking an active interest in the activities of the congregation to secure a new place of worship.

For the present the congregation is using the Millburn school for all church services.

HANSON DISCUSSES SOLDIERS' BONUS AND MONEY PROBLEM

Sound Money At 29c Per $1,000 Is Stickler for Taxpayers' Head

By Severin H. Hanson
(Pres. Nat'l. Taxpayers' League)

Adjusted Service Certificates were given to the world war veterans as an adjustment of wages (not as a bonus), to increase their pay to that of the lowest paid Labor. And it would have been paid before now had it not been for the fact that when a Veteran borrows 50% he, in reality, assigns the other 50% over to the Bankers. Call it a bonus or call it interest.

It is 6 per cent interest had been figured from the time this money was earned. (6% interest is what Sec. Mellon paid himself on income tax refunds), then on Oct. 1, 1931, the amount would have been equal to the face value of the average Certificate.

Out of the $1 a day for service in the U. S. or $1.25 a day for service overseas, the soldier paid for his own Life and Disability Insurance. And up to 1924, when congress voted them this adjustment of wages, no world war veteran or his dependents had, because of death or disability, received a single cent from the government. It had been paid out of the War Risk Insurance funds. I am not sure, but I think this is still true with Service Connected Cases.

Furthermore, the soldier was responsible for all equipment issued to him. If any article was lost or stolen then he paid for it, and at War Prices; it was deducted from his pay. Thousands of men came home owing the government and that is why the Red Cross insisted that the government pay each man $60 when he got his discharge, so that he could retool himself with clothes.

In 1924, most of the veterans were single and all of them had jobs (the disabled were taken care of from War Risk Insurance funds)—therefore: Congress felt that it would be wise to save this money for a "Rainy Day," and as a result, the veteran received an Adjusted Service Certificate which, in reality, is a paid-up Insurance Policy payable in 1945, and on which the veteran could borrow a small amount of money.

In 1929, when our total indebtedness had become greater than the total value of all property, the banks quit extending credit and thereby deflated our Medium of Exchange which in turn created a Money famine and a general condition of depression.

Everything, except the Adjusted Service Certificates, had been mortgaged for more than it was worth. And in 1931, Congress enacted a law making it possible for a veteran to borrow up to 50% of the face value of his Adjusted Service Certificate, so the Banks would have something against which to extend credit.

Any "Federal Reserve Bank" (Federal Reserve Banks are strictly a privately owned corporation) can deposit its Frozen Assets (Sec. Glass) said "CATS & DOGS" with the Treasurer of the United States against which the government will print "FEDERAL RESERVE NOTES" and "NATIONAL CURRENCY"; these are (Continued on page eight)

JIM LONDOS TO FEATURE LOCAL MAT PROGRAM

Will Defend Championship
on American Legion
Mat Card

While big league promoters have been scrambling over each other to land Jim Londos for dates in the big clubs, the Libertyville Legion post came through with an announcement this week that makes Libertyville high school gymnasium the high spot of the national wrestling world on Thursday night, January 24.

The heavyweight champion of the world, through his manager, Ed White, a resident of Libertyville, has signed to meet Lou Plummer in a 90 minute, one fall match with the title at stake.

The Londos-Plummer match is an outgrowth of a match in Dallas two years ago when Londos, by a pure break in luck, retained his championship against the challenge of Plummer when the latter out-wrestled the champion from start until a bare minute before the end when Lou slipped and fell into a pinning hold by the champion.

Last fall when Londos was training at Round Lake for the match with Ed "Strangler" Lewis, which drew $100,000 at Wrigley Field, Plummer obtained a place as member of the Londos training staff. Without explaining his action to any one he wrestled daily with the Greek and when the training work was over began his own campaign against Jim. Since that time he has followed the champion from city to city asserting he was entitled to another title match. Until last week he was unsuccessful in getting approval of either Londos or White.

Two weeks ago when officials of the Libertyville Legion post began the work on a card for January 24, they naturally went to their fellow-townsman, Ed White, and asked for the champion from city to city asserting he was entitled to another title match. Until last week he was unsuccessful in getting approval of either Londos or White.

Those re-elected Saturday were: President, L. S. Bonner, Millburn; Secretary, J. S. Denman, re-elected for twentieth time; and Carl D. Hughes, treasurer. Directors are John Wirtz, Ivanhoe, W. J. Swayer, Gurnee; Frank Kennedy, Antioch. Agents re-appointed include: Arthur Leng — Warren, Newport, Benton, Waukegan, Avon and Grant.

C. F. Richards—Antioch; John Traut—Libertyville, Shields, Fremont and Ela; Arthur Powers—Wauconda and Cuba; and W. I. Woodin—Vernon and Deerfield.

The company adopted the standard insurance policy, which meets with the approval of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis, Secretary Denman said.

With the closing of the contestants for the feature bout the committee in charge of the show is now arranging for other bouts which will complete the card. Although no definite information is available as yet, it is announced that the supporting card will be of a calibre worthy of a program which is a part of a champion ship match.

The committee is composed of Carl Wadman, Jack Church, A. O. Packer, Charles C. Hoskins and Clarence Boyd, who announce that a percentage of the proceeds will be given to the local boy scouts.

Tickets will be on sale within a few days and it is expected there will be a packed house to see the first world's championship that has ever come to Libertyville.

Early Morning Fire Destroys Barn at Corona Factory

Fire at four o'clock Friday morning destroyed the barn on the Corona Pen factory property, an almost new Ford car belonging to Clyde McTerlie and a quantity of machinery and tools, also the property of McTerlie. Due to delay in turning in the alarm, firemen arrived too late to save any of the property.

The building, which belonged to G. K. Anderson, was not insured. McTerlie was fully covered on the Ford car and partly covered on the

"Justice" Carved in Marble

MASSIVE figures personifying justice are carved in Vermont marble in the pediment of the United States Supreme Court building which is nearing completion in Washington, D. C.

Seated on a throne in the center of the group of nine figures which stand out in high relief is "Liberty," looking confidently into the future. Across her lap are the scales of Justice.

To the right and left of the figure are groups of two figures representing "Council." On the ends recumbent figures represent "Research" past and present.

The sculpture is the work of Robert Aitken, of New York.

Amateur Performers In Radio Show Tryout at Grayslake Tonight

Try-outs for the big Home Talent reproduction of the Prairie Farmer WLS Barn Dance were given last night and more performers will be heard tonight at the Farmer's hall in Grayslake at seven o'clock.

The big performance is to be given for three nights, Jan. 23, 24 and 26, at the Gurnee high school auditorium. The presentation will be reproduction of the famous WLS barn dance as given each Saturday night at the Eighth Street Theatre in Chicago, and home talent artists will impersonate the radio stars of WLS, including Uncle Ezra, Lulu Belle, George Gobel, Sparrows, The Three Little Maids, Skyland Scotty, Red Foley, Oley Yonson, The Westerners, Hoosier Hot Shots and many others.

This event will not be a mere show but a great get-together meeting where town and country folk meet on a common ground of good fellowship and have a grand old time together.

Hidden talent is usually discovered by the Directors and a very splendid performance is expected at Gurnee because of the splendid home talent artists in the surrounding communities. Many prefer the Home Talent production to the real production which has packed them in at the Eighth Street Theatre for over two years each Saturday night; a talented Lake County person may be discovered who performs as well if not better than the artist who is being impersonated. The Talent of the County is developed in this manner and everybody made happier and better by a big, clean, wholesome Home Talent Entertainment.

THE PROGRAM AT WASHINGTON

There were no surprises in the President's Message to Congress. Mr. Roosevelt confined his talk almost exclusively to explaining what he hoped to do on behalf of the needy, the ill, the old, and the unemployed. His new program, dealing as it does with reform rather than recovery, might be termed the second phase of the New Deal.

Briefly described, there are six definite factors to the program he wishes Congress to enact. The purpose, first, is to provide every able-bodied worker with a job. Second, the dole system of relief is to be abandoned. Third, relief of the unemployed, which is now being carried by the Federal government with a modicum of state aid, is to be transferred to local authorities. Fourth, all public works activities are to be unified under a new plan. Fifth, the existing Federal Emergency Relief Administration is to be gradually displaced by a new emergency works agency. Sixth, and the most important—old age and unemployment insurance are to be provided, and a start is to be made toward perfecting legislation for financially assisting children, mothers and others handicapped by dependency or ill-health.

Mr. Roosevelt outlined these matters, but gave little in the way of detail. He said that he would shortly issue a statement as to their cost—and added that it would be well within the credit of the government. This, of course, is a debatable point—no subject is more bitterly disputed than how much drain the Treasury can stand. Irrespective of that, it can be safely forecast that Congress will enact the program in its entirety. While support of the President's ideas by the legislative branch of our government may not be as unanimous as in the past, his power is still extraordinarily potent.

Also of great interest was the President's statement on how public works are to be carried on in the future. He said that preference will be given to projects which use a large amount of direct labor, and which may be expected to be self-liquidating—in other words, projects where the government has a chance of getting all or part of its money back in the course of time. He also said that projects should compete as little as possible with private enterprise—and a legion of industrialists must have heaved a sigh of relief on hearing that. One of the greatest fears of the time is that government will go into business in competition with private enterprise, as it has already done with power projects. Finally, according to the President, public works will be planned so that they may be slowed down if and when private enterprise is able to take up some of the unemployment slack.

Sentiment for unemployment and old-age insurance has been growing at a great rate during the past two or three years. The difficulty will arise in the preparation of legislation—there are an almost unlimited number of schemes to achieve social security. The Federation of Labor, for example, wants the cost of such insurance to be borne by employers and government alone—while employers want a three-sided plan, under which the worker, the employer and government will participate. Others want government to carry the whole burden—something that would seem obviously impossible in these days of distorted budgets.

So much for relief and reform. Next to be considered is Congress' own program, as measured by the statements and campaign platforms of various members.

It is certain that the bonus bill will be passed—and it is almost equally certain that the President will veto it, as he did last year, and as Harding, Coolidge and Hoover did before him. But now there is a difference—where, in the past, the two-thirds majority necessary to pass a bill over the veto could not be summoned on behalf of the bonus, most observers think it will at this session.

Inflation will likewise have its day in court. There will be efforts to further devalue the dollars, and to turn the printing presses loose making money. A very large

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Sacrament" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 13.

The Golden Text was, "A new commandment I give unto you, That ye love one another; as I have loved you, that ye also love one another. By this shall all men know that ye are my disciples, if ye love one to another" (John 13:34, 35).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Now when the even was come, he sat down with the twelve. And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat: this is my body" (Matthew 26:20, 26).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Their bread indeed came down from heaven. It was the great truth of spiritual being, healing the sick and casting out error. Their Master had explained it all before, and now this bread was feeding and sustaining them. They had borne this bread from house to house, breaking (explaining) it to others, and now it comforted themselves" (p. 33).

Meaning of "California"

If the name of the Golden State were reduced to its Spanish interpretation, it is very probable that the aggressive advertising of its climate would be largely nullified, for literally "California" is a combination of two Spanish words meaning "hot furnace," writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. The Spaniards, who were the first white men to explore the state, gave it to this name because their interest was not in the cool verdant lands of the seacoast, but in the hot arid sections of the interior where it was believed gold was to be found.

BANKING EVOLUTION

By R. S. HECHT
President American Bankers Association

BANKING at one time was a private business, but more recently has developed into a profession—a semi-public profession. This change has not come suddenly but is the result of an evolutionary process. Banking has grown and changed with the growth and change of our country.

The banker who has survived the trials and tribulations of the past few years has proven himself a man of courage and ability, and we may well expect him to meet the problems that lie before him with resolution and sound judgment.

Changes of momentous importance have occurred in our economic structures and bankers have had a difficult road to travel. Some will argue that all of these changes were evolutionary and inevitable, while others look upon many of them as revolutionary and unnecessary. It is extremely difficult to trace with any degree of accuracy the real causes for many of our troubles and it is not always easy in judging these developments to distinguish properly between cause and effect.

Unfortunately it has become the fashion to blame our banking system all the troubles which the depression has brought. As a consequence we hear much of needed reform of banking by law. No one will deny that certain defects have developed in our existing banking laws which need correction, and that certain abuses were committed which no one wishes to defend or have remain possible in the future. Never before were bankers more determined than they are today to bring about whatever changes in our banking system are called for by the public welfare.

The best results can and will be accomplished by normal processes and gradual adjustments of our present private banking structure—suitably supervised by proper authority—rather than by the passage of still more drastic laws, offering panaceas in the form of more government-owned or government-controlled financial organizations.

The Basis of Good Laws

Lasting laws relating to any phase of human need are formed and modelled in the rough school of practical human experience and are usually the result of sound evolutionary processes rather than of sudden impulses to change fundamental principles.

If we analyze the new banking picture which has developed during the past eighteen months, we cannot help but arrive at the conclusion that evolutionary changes which have taken place in banking and the economic life of the nation of which it is a part, have justified much of the banking legislation recently passed. As we look ahead and consider the new problems which are facing us we must inevitably come to the conclusion that some further changes in our banking laws will be come necessary.

It is not enough that bankers merely acquiesce in banking imposed by law. Zeal for evolutionary banking reform must be more aggressive than that. Banking practice itself, without compulsion of law, can and should reflect the changes and lessons of the times and difficulties through which the nation has passed and, even to a greater extent than law, render banking more truly a good public servant by voluntary self-reform. In no small measure is this accomplished by the better training of the members of the banking fraternity and by instilling constantly higher ideals in those who are ultimately responsible for bank management.

As we march on into the world of tomorrow the banker has a greater opportunity for usefulness than ever before, and I hope that the service he will render to society will be so conscientious, so constructive and so satisfactory as to merit general approval and assure him his logical high place and leadership.

NATIONAL SAVINGS MARK INCREASES

NEW YORK. The annual savings compilation of the American Bankers Association for the year ending June 30, 1934, shows that for the first time since 1930 total savings in all American banks recorded an annual increase.

A statement by W. Espy Albig, Deputy Manager of the association in charge of its Savings Division, in the organization's monthly magazine "Banking," says that savings deposited in banks as of June 30, 1934, gained 3 per cent as compared with a year earlier.

"The aggregate is an increase over last year of $742,122,000, the first since the year which closed June 30, 1930," he says. "This is a notable achievement for the decline since 1930 had been precipitate and all-embracing in that year. Savings had reached the all-time high of $25,478,831,000. A year ago the amount was $21,125,534,000, a loss in three years of $7,353,097,000. This year the figure stands at $21,847,616,000."

"Depositors, too, have gained in number, going from 39,362,412 on June 30, 1933, to 39,682,174 on June 30 this year, a gain of 299,732. Four years ago there were 52,729,432 depositors, or one depositor for each 2.2 persons in the country. Now there is one account for each 3.1 persons."

Mrs. Richey Tells PTA About Foods

Food in its relation to health of both children and adults was discussed by Mrs. Ruby Richey, home economics teacher, at the January meeting of the Antioch Parent-Teachers' meeting held at the grade school Monday night. Mrs. Richey told of the wise provision of nature in providing the essential vitamins in simple foods, the effects of diet on teeth, growth, and effects of children's foods upon general health in adult years. The speaker stressed the importance of the warm breakfast for school children.

Three playlets were broadcast by the seventh and eighth grade pupils and the plays were broadcast from over the wiring system installed when the building was erected several years ago. A microphone has been installed on trial and the plays were broadcast from the office. The results were satisfactory.

Music was by Miss Lois Tschappat of Grayslake who sang three solos accompanied by Mrs. Mary Maplethorpe.

President Ernestine Robbins announced that the Indian Princess Tsianina (Oh-ne-na), gifted pianist and lyric soprano, has been engaged for a special program before the PTA on April 8.

HOLD ON TO YOUTH

Summer Beauty Sense
By Marie H. Callahan, Editor Modern Beauty Shop Magazine

It is a temptation to leave common sense as well as care behind us when we go vacationing, but for your own comfort and beauty is a little wise about exposing yourselves too suddenly to the sun. Remember that spending the first day of the vacation on the beach "getting a tan" will more probably result in a very painful sunburn instead.

Tan if you must, but take it slowly. Don't settle yourself on the beach determined to get a fine romantic tan on the very first day of your vacation. And by all means don't do this if you are spending your summer in the midst of the kind of friends who think back slapping is amusing.

A few minutes of exposure to the sun is enough on the first day; then gradually the length of time can be increased. In any case, before you go out first apply a generous coating of cream or lotion to the skin, remove the surplus and apply talcum powder. Then, on coming indoors, cleanse the skin with cold cream. After this, pat on a soothing lotion. If, failing to take these precautions, your skin should become red and burned, the irritation may be relieved by bathing with a simple lotion composed of one part of lime water and two parts of olive oil.

Freckles are another summer problem. If you have the kind of skin that freckles easily you may be comforted to know that the reason it is so sensitive is because of its natural delicacy, and that this type of skin if properly cared for is more beautiful than any other. A lotion safe and effective for clearing the skin of freckles is made as follows: one-half dram sulphur carbonate of zinc; one and a half ounces of glycerin; four ounces rose water; three drams cologne water, all shaken well together. This solution should be applied several times a day with a piece of clean linen or absorbent cotton.

Another common summer folly is the way we eat. It is said that fully 80 individuals, Antioch will have seven entries. A cup will be given to the winning school and there will also be awards for individual high scores

Antioch Wins

In a strong second half rally the local basketball team defeated the Wauconda Bulldogs Friday night. Wauconda had led chiefly because of overeagerness on the part of the locals all through the first half. In the second half, led by Bishop and Simpson, the Sequoias scored thirteen points and held Wauconda to three. Simpson did an exceptional job of defensive work in holding Plugg, Wauconda star, to only one basket.

The second team game was a thrilling affair. Antioch finally winning in the last minute of play, 17-16. Williamson and King starred for Antioch. The visitors were behind at halftime 8-6, went into the lead in the third quarter, but fell before a determined Antioch attack in the last few minutes.

Antioch now stands on the .500 level in the N. W. Conference with three wins and three losses. Their next home game will be January 16 with Bensenville. The Sequoias won by one point at Bensenville and will undoubtedly be in for a battle royal.

CLOTHING NEGLECT MAY BE CAUSE OF "NOTHING TO WEAR"

Americans have spent more than four and a quarter billion dollars in a single year for clothing and other apparel, but too many of them never "have a thing to wear" because the proper care of clothing is becoming a lost art, according to Miss Katherine Patterson, assistant state leader of home economics extension at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Whisk brooms and brushes are almost forgotten equipment in the home today, with the result that dirt and dust are wearing out clothes just like abrasive or emery would, she said. Furthermore when grease spots are allowed to permeate the cloth, they collect and hold dust, thereby adding to the wear and tear.

Most stains can be removed in the home, if reliable methods are used and a few precautions taken. The nature of the stain should be determined and the kind of material must be known, for various chemicals and cleaning agents affect the textile fibers differently.

One homemade detergent that is good for removing spots can be prepared by mixing one ounce of salt-peter, two ounces of chipped castile soap and two ounces of borax, after which one-half gallon of boiling soft water is added. When this is cool, two ounces of sulphurous ether, six ounces of aqua ammonia and four ounces of denatured alcohol are mixed into the solution should be tested on an inconspicuous place in the fabric for fastness of color.

An outline of perspiration sometimes shows in a fabric without affecting its color. This may be removed by holding the soiled part over a steaming kettle, then sponging with a damp cloth and pressing.

To remove the shine from worn woolen surfaces, a pad made of two strips of woolen material and two of cotton fastened together may be used. The cotton side is dampened and pressed partially dry. The wool side is then placed next to the clothing and pressed. The wool absorbs and distributes the moisture evenly, giving a soft finish.

Wrinkles may be removed from silk by covering the garment with several folds of tissue paper, over which a damp cloth is laid and pressed. The iron should not be too hot nor pressed too heavily. The wrinkles may be removed from velvet by steaming. The dress can be hung in a bathroom while hot water is run into the tub. The garment should not be allowed to become too damp as it may shrink.

The Monthly Reminder

This time of year quite a little acid should be used in your menus. Oranges, lemons and grapefruit may be used liberally. Dried fruits give bulk and can be used interchangeably.

If colds are going the rounds serve the family with rather sour lemonade in the evening or half an hour before breakfast. Avoid fried foods whenever possible. Make bread, both yeast and quick, as far as possible of whole wheat grains.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE
PRICES on butter, eggs and meat have continued to rise with no prospect of letting up with the probable exception of eggs, which should be plentiful within two to three weeks.

Many vegetables are cheap or moderately priced, particularly white potatoes and other underground vegetables. Several varieties of cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, iceberg, Boston and romaine lettuce, celery and various greens help to cover up the scarcity and high prices of string beans and spinach.

Grapefruit are plentiful and cheap, having largely escaped cold damage. Large size eating apples predominate at present. Bananas, prices change little from month to month and they together with the citrus fruits and apples are the chief winter standbys.

Here are three menus made up from seasonable foods at different price levels:

Low Cost Dinner

Beef Liver and Bacon
Mashed Potatoes Sweet-sour Beets
Bread and Butter
Baked Cereal Custard Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Chicken Pot Pie with Biscuit Crust
Brown Bread Sweet Potatoes
Creamed Onions
Bread and Butter
Prune Whip
Tea or Coffee Milk

Very Special Dinner

Stuffed Celery
Brown Chicken Fricassee
New Potatoes
Buttered Cauliflower or Broccoli
Apple and Raisin Salad
Hot Biscuits and Butter
Chocolate Cream Pie
Coffee Milk

Reflected Sunlight

Reflected sunlight is light from the sun reflected by other bodies, as, for instance, the light of the moon and of the planets. The law of reflection was expressed as early as the Second century by Hero of Alexandria. Euclid is said to have deduced it.

Tells How To Choose Beef

H. A. Stark shows Mrs. Wilbur E. Friby how to judge quality in meat. They are pictured in Armour and Company's wholesale market in Chicago examining carcasses of steers which won grand champion honors and other awards at International Livestock Exposition.

By MRS. WILBUR E. FRIBLY
President, Chicago Housewives League.

CHICAGO — Waxey white and glowing red are the beautifully prepared sides of beef which hang in the packing house chill rooms after the International Livestock Exposition.

They represent the dentistry of the blooded steers which won the prizes at the great stock show and they serve to teach every housewife the lessons regarding good beef which are so important to her self and her family.

H. A. Stark, president of the Central Association of Retail Meat Dealers of Chicago, was my guide at this year's showing of prime beef at the Armour and Company Wholesale market and the trip was most instructive.

"Every retail meat dealer wants to sell good beef, and he will sell it if his customers demand it," Mr. Stark said. "It isn't difficult to see that these cattle will make the quality of the beef."

Of course, the liveweight price of 33½ cents was high—the highest load price paid in five years at the show and about four times the regular price of prime steers in the stockyards. But the comparison of retail prices on the loins and ribs is an excellent illustration of why the economical housewife makes it a practice to serve the less popular cuts of choice beef as frequently as possible.

fat must be distributed throughout the meat.

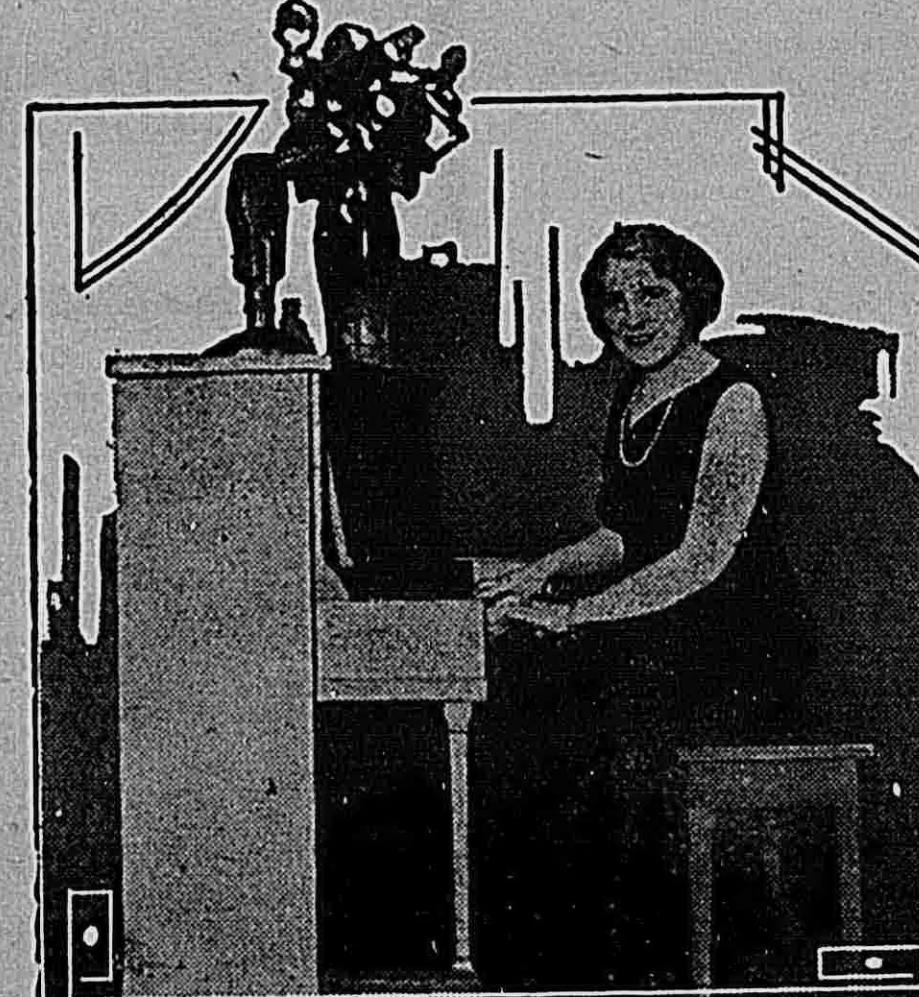

"It is a mistake to think of beef only in terms of the most expensive steaks and rib roasts. Pot roast from the forequarter of these show cattle, and of all good beef, is delicious and nothing is more appetizing than a Swiss steak from the round."

This last point of Mr. Stark's is important. Armour and Company paid 33½ cents a pound for the grand champion load of steers at the International Livestock Show auction. Mr. Stark pointed out that when a show ring price is paid for choice beef, the retailer must get his increased cost largely out of the ribs and the loins. "The rib roasts and loin steaks of the grand champion load," he said, "if sold at retail, would have to bring between $3 and $4 a pound."

Market prices for rounds and quarters do not vary as much with the quality of the beef.

"In the first place, the fat covering the carcass is creamy white, showing the effect of proper feeding which will be noticeable in the flavor of the meat. When this side of beef is cut, you will see little specks of fat all through the meat. We say that sort of meat is 'marbled', and beef with this characteristic is tender and flavorful. The

New Opera Career for Farrar

Her reign on the operatic stage over, Geraldine Farrar has moved across the footlights at the Metropolitan Opera House to start a new career from a microphone equipped box in the Grand Tier.

STARTING a new career in mid-life—that's the inspiring example for American womanhood set by Geraldine Farrar. Thirty-three years ago, as a girl of nineteen, Geraldine Farrar sang her first opera performance at the Royal Opera House in Berlin. Shortly after that she made the startling announcement that she would retire from the operatic stage when she was forty and from concert when she was fifty.

Twelve years ago last spring she stood on the stage of the Metropolitan Opera House in New York in the heyday of her beauty and glory and sang her farewell—while the audience stood and cheered through her tears. Ten years later, true to her 30-year-old promise, she gave up concert appearances.

But now, as radio raconteuse of the Metropolitan Opera broadcasts

Colds Resistance Varies Greatly

A Few Persons Never Have Colds; Some Have Them Continually

By DR. WILSON G. SMILLIE
Professor of Public Health Administration, Harvard University
School of Public Health

Everyone who is exposed to cold does not catch it. Some people are lucky. They are not susceptible to colds, and no matter what they do or how careless they are, they never catch cold. Some unhappy people have not only their fall and spring colds, but a miserable summer cold as well. This group is highly susceptible to colds and catch them in spite of every precaution. For the average person, however, there are certain conditions that increase the susceptibility or lower resistance to colds.

Rapid changes in temperature as well as movement and moisture of the air seem to play a part in the production of colds. These rapid changes from hot to cold weather, and from dry to wet weather cannot be avoided. In many ways they are beneficial.

Cold Stimulates

Active, vigorous people receive a healthful stimulation from exposure to cold weather. If the surface of the body remains warm, cold weather is exhilarating; if the skin becomes chilled, then one is very apt to catch cold. The secret of enjoyment of cold weather is to keep the body surface warm and dry.

This brings up the question of proper clothing and its relation to catching cold. When should we change to heavy underwear? Under modern conditions most of our life is spent indoors and we have developed the custom of heating houses and offices to 70 degrees in winter. Living under such conditions the average person should use the same weight underwear the year round. When one goes out into the cold, suitable outer covering may be used to keep the skin from getting chilled. Children who give off heat rapidly, aged persons, and invalids who have a poor circulation, should wear heavier underclothing in winter weather.

First Drama by an American
The first drama written by an American and acted in America was "Istavas Vaas," a tragedy, by Benjamin Colman. Harvard students gave a performance of this play in 1890 in Cambridge, Mass.

Things Worth Trying

Streaks on Floor

The dark streaks on hardwood floors caused by moving heavy furniture about can be removed by rubbing the spots with a soapy cloth dipped in kerosene.

A quick and effective way to polish silver is to plunge it into boiling water, using about a tablespoonful of ammonia to each quart of water; rinse in hot water and wipe at once. This cleans the black out of the deeply chased silver most thoroughly.

When baking squash, place pieces in oven upside down. It will bake much faster.

Save old felt hats and use them to make inner soles for the children's shoes or house slippers.

Why They Are Kisses

The small crosses or x's were at one time more important than as symbols indicative of youthful romance, writes G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. Their origin dates back to a time when few people could read and an even fewer number could write. Nevertheless, wills and other public documents had to be signed somehow, so those who were unable to write merely made their mark. The solemnity of affixing one's signature to such binding agreements led, in a highly religious age, to making such marks in the form of a cross that the signer would kiss as a pledge of good faith and as an act of reverence. Thus the cross on paper became associated with the kiss.

Office of Sheriff

The office of sheriff dates back to old English times when the "sherriff" was the king's reeve or steward over a shire or county.

CORPORATIONS

The term "Corporation" conjures up in the mind of the average person an octopus generally referred to as "The Trust," and yet, without a proper law on the subject of corporations, many chaotic conditions would exist in business. You will not have to look very far to find that several corporations exist in your town, practically at your own door.

The value of a corporation to a small business is manifold. The average business man who operates as an individual expends not only his stock of merchandise, but also his home and all of his possessions in the event of disaster. By the corporation law, it was intended to separate a person's assets employed in his business and those owned by him privately, so that where an incorporated business may fall and be lost, yet the business man does not jeopardize his home and private property.

Under the laws of Illinois, any three persons can petition the State to grant a charter. When the charter is recorded in the Recorder's office, the business proceeds as a corporation. It can be dissolved and the charter surrendered at any time. The creditors of a corporation can only obtain a satisfaction on their claims to the extent of the property and assets of the corporation. The private fortunes of the business man cannot be touched.

In spite of its advantages and convenience, many unscrupulous persons have taken advantage of the corporation law to the detriment of the public with which they deal. Generally speaking, however, a corporation is a convenience provided by law of much value to the business man, and to the public.

Capital stock, which is a large and complicated subject, governed by special laws and a special commission, known as the "Blue Sky" Commission which passes upon stock offered for sale to the public. However, this feature is of no importance in the case of the small corporation.

In the next issue we will discuss the subject of Wills.

SOUND MONEY

(continued from page 1) officially called "Elastic Currency" and hand this "Printing Press Money" over to the Bank at an average cost, to the Bank, of 29 cents per Thousand Dollars. This is the kind of money the veteran borrowed on his Certificate.

The "Frozen Assets", and "CATS & DOGS", deposited to secure Note Circulation, remains the property of the Bank and any interest collected therefrom goes to the Bank.

It is an interesting fact that on June 30, 1920, the amount of money in circulation was equal to $53.21 per capita and on June 30, 1930, it was only $36.71 per capita. This was due to the closing of National Banks whereby the "NATIONAL BANK NOTES" outstanding had become callible, and withdrawn from circulation.

On Dec. 4, 1931, Congressman Patman introduced a "Bill" to convert the Adjusted Service Certificates into a non-interest bearing Circulating Medium, thus increase the volume of money by $18 per capita, and distribute the money into every part of the nation by paying a national debt.

The Veteran holding a $500 Adjusted Service Certificate would exchange it for One Hundred $5 "TREASURY CERTIFICATES" and in 1945 the government would redeem the "TREASURY CERTIFICATES." But the Bankers are opposed to this. They insist that all money issued must be handed over to them at the cost of printing, and then they will call it "SOUND MONEY" and loan it into circulation.

Government Printing Presses have been very busy during the past seven months, and among other things, they are printing "FEDERAL RESERVE NOTES" and "NATIONAL CURRENCY" and handing it over to the Federal Reserve Banks at an average cost, to the banks, of 29 cents per Thousand Dollars, with which the banks can buy H. O. L. C. Bonds at a discount.

The Bonds are exempt from taxation, and both the interest and principal is guaranteed by the government.

The Home Owner carries the Tax Load, pays 5% interest on his mortgage and is not even guaranteed a job.

The principles involved in Patman's proposal are: Shall Congress exercise its constitutional function and duty to "COIN MONEY AND REGULATE THE VALUE THEREOF," or shall the Bankers have full control over Currency and Credit and allow except that which is loaned into circulation. New Money to go into circulation by creating interest bearing debts.

All Depressions have been ended by an expansion of the currency. The Depression of 1873, created by the demonetization of Silver, was ended in 1878, by an Act of Congress to increase the volume of Money.

The Depression of 1893 was ended in 1898 by inflation resulting from the war with Spain, and gold brought here from Alaska prevented deflation. Gold was discovered in Alaska in 1897.

Patman's proposal would help restore to the people their jobs, business, property values, etc., and also help restore the country to a normal condition of prosperity. It is at least a step in the right direction, although Old Age Persons and a modernization of our System of Taxation are also necessary.
